WELCOME TO ROYAL GREENWICH

Greenwich – a Royal Borough, the home of time and a UNESCO World Heritage Site. A rich blend of historical treasures and contemporary delights. Stand astride the Prime Meridian; take a trip on the river; marvel at the majesty of the Old Royal Naval College; shop for original art and craft at Greenwich Market; discover Woolwich; explore the creativity at Greenwich Peninsula; walk over The O2 and take in a show. Whatever your fancy, you'll have a prime time in Greenwich.

Greenwich : un quartier royal à l'origine du temps universel et classé comme site du patrimoine mondial. Un riche mélange de trésors historiques et de merveilles contemporaines. Enjambez le premier méridien, faites un tour de bateau sur la rivière, émerveillez-vous devant la splendeur du Old Royal Naval College, achetez des créations originales au marché de Greenwich, découvrez Woolwich, marchez sur le toit de The O2 et assistez à un spectacle. Quelles que soient vos envies, vous passerez des moments inoubliables à Greenwich.

Greenwich es uno de los municipios reales de Londres, hogar del famoso meridiano de Greenwich y patrimonio de la humanidad. Cuenta con una rica mezcla de tesoros históricos, así como ricones encantadores y modernos. Coloca un pie a cada lado de la línea del meridiano cero; navega por el Támesis; déjate cautivar por el Old Royal Naval College; compra arte y productos artesanales en el mercado de Greenwich; descubre y explora Woolwich; camina sobre el estadio The O2 y disfruta de uno de sus espectáculos. Hagas lo que hagas, en Greenwich siempre podrás pasarlo bien.

Greenwich – historischer Stadtteil Londons, Wiege der Weltzeit und Weltkulturerbe. Ein Ort voller historischer Sehenswürdigkeiten und zeitgenössischer Attraktionen. Stellen Sie sich direkt über den Nullmeridian, unternehmen Sie eine Bootstour auf der Themse, bewundern Sie das prachtvoll Old Royal Naval College, bummeln Sie über den Greenwich Market und ersehen Sie einzigartiges Kunsthandwerk, erkunden Sie Woolwich, Klettern Sie über das Dach The O2 und besuchen Sie eine Veranstaltung. Worauf immer Sie Lust haben – in Greenwich erwartet Sie eine gute Zeit!

格林威治——皇家自治区，是有“时间的故乡”美誉的世界遗产地，拥有丰厚的历史底蕴亦不乏当代情致。在格林威治，您可以体验本初子午线在脚下延伸的奇妙经历，在河上旅行，感受古老的格林威治皇家海军学院的庄严肃穆，逛格林威治市集以购买原创艺术品和手工艺品，领略伍利奇的风采，穿上攀登装备去爬 The O2 体育馆（登高观景）然后入内观看演出——无论您倾心哪项活动，格林威治都会让您乘兴而来，尽兴而归。

EAT & DRINK

You'll eat and drink like royalty in Greenwich's wonderful pubs and restaurants. Food, wine and coffee from across the globe meet British classics in every corner of the Royal Borough.

Any foodies' tour of the borough naturally begins in Maritime Greenwich, where pubs, wine bars and bistros adorn twisting Georgian streets. Ground zero for Greenwich gastronomy are the street food trucks and stalls of Greenwich Market. ① And Friday to Sunday, April to December, the world-food options increase substantially, as the Cutty Sark Street Food Market opens for business.

Just round the corner is Sticks'n'Sushi. ② serving a blend of Japanese tradition, local history and Nordic design. The Old Brewery at the Old Royal Naval College features fine ales and modern British food in historic surroundings. For a unique heritage experience, book afternoon tea at the Cutty Sark Café. ③ sitting beneath the famous ship's beautiful copper hull. For tantalising tipples, pop into Davy's Wine Vaults. ④ where delightful modern British dishes are matched to expertly selected Old and New World wines.

Riverside pubs are another sure crowd pleaser. The Trafalgar Tavern ⑤ is an historical Thames-side gem offering a warm welcome amidst a wonderful art collection; The Oystercatcher boasts a riverfront terrace and Enderby House ⑥ offers panoramic views of Canary Wharf from Greenwich Peninsula. Inshore, local favourites like The Coach and Horses and Richard the First are also certain to satisfy.

At the tip of the Peninsula, there's an entire street of incredible restaurants all under one roof at The O2. Next door, Canteen Food Hall & Bar ⑦ houses plenty of great street food vendors, while the InterContinental London - The O2 is home to Kinaara. ⑧ renowned for fine Indian dining.

Further downriver, Woolwich is rich with exciting world-food options. Try ViB Bar's bao and Vietnamese treats, or the flapping-fresh fish of Hitachi Sushi.

SHOPPING

Greenwich offers superb shopping. From fresh produce to artworks, souvenirs and brand name discounts, you'll find treasures scattered throughout the Royal Borough.

Greenwich Market, a Royal Charter market trading since 1737, is a perfect place to begin. Shoppers will find locally made arts and crafts jostling for attention alongside fresh produce, vintage clothing, upcycled crafts, antiques and global street food beneath its handsome steel and-glass canopy.

There's plenty more fresh produce to pluck at local markets like Royal Arsenal Farmers' Market, held in Woolwich on the second and last Saturday of every month. More farmers' markets pop up in Blackheath every Sunday and Eltham on the third Saturday of each month. While you're there, potter around the independent shops of pretty Blackheath village and the well-stocked high street stores of Woolwich and Eltham.

Retro lovers will be in clover amongst the eclectic stalls of Greenwich Vintage Market, open Friday to Sunday every week.

The eagle-eyed will find plenty of gems amongst the bric-a-brac and old-world ephemera and can celebrate their swags with a cone from the vintage ice cream cart.

For something unique to the Royal Borough, you can't go past Made in Greenwich, a colourful cooperative teeming with the work of local artists, craftspeople and food entrepreneurs.

Hunting for global clothing and lifestyle brands? Outlet Shopping at The O2 offers irresistible discounts on over 60 well-known labels at up to 70% off RRP. Independent food producers and creators trade at Greenwich Peninsula Market, in nearby Peninsula Square, each weekend.

Eyes open for a souvenir of Greenwich's historic riches? The on-site shops at the Old Royal Naval College, Royal Observatory, National Maritime Museum and Cutty Sark are packed with books, clothing, stationery and mementoes.

MARITIME GREENWICH WORLD HERITAGE SITE

1 Royal Observatory, Greenwich

Christopher Wren's Royal Observatory is a Greenwich 'must see'. Founded in 1675, it's the site of the Prime Meridian – straddle the line in the courtyard to place a foot in each hemisphere! Built by order of Charles II, the Observatory has played a peerless role in the history of astronomy and navigation. The Greenwich Time Ball drops each day at precisely 1pm, as it has since 1833.

2 National Maritime Museum

Britain's mighty maritime past is preserved in the National Maritime Museum's outstanding collection. With over two million artefacts in its care – from the coat Admiral Nelson wore when fatally wounded to relics of the Titanic to the fine paintings on show, such as George Stubbs's 'Kangaroo' and 'Dingo' paintings – its galleries are packed with epic stories of exploration and endeavour.

12 The Fan Museum

The Fan Museum is the only one of its kind in the country. Dedicated to the history of fans and the art of fan-making, it boasts a rich collection of fans from around the world, the earliest dating to the 12th century. Located within a pair of beautifully restored Georgian townhouses opposite Greenwich Theatre, the museum holds regular themed exhibitions which complement the permanent displays.

13 Ranger's House

Ranger's House is an elegant Georgian villa at the south of Greenwich Park, home to the Wernher Collection, a world-class art collection amassed by the 19th-century businessman, Sir Julius Wernher. Also well known as the facade of the Bridgerton family residence in the Netflix drama, it boasts over 700 works of art, including Dutch Old Masters and Madonna della Melagrana, from Boticelli's workshop.

3 The Queen's House

Inigo Jones-designed Queen's House is justly famous as Britain's first classical building. Built by James I between 1616 and 1635 as a gift to Queen Anne, it's as notable for architectural highlights like the Tulip Stairs, Britain's first self-supporting spiral staircase, as its art. The internationally renowned collection features works by Turner, Hogarth and Reynolds.

4 Cutty Sark

Cutty Sark is an icon of Royal Greenwich. Once the fastest ship in the world, it's the last tea clipper in existence. Immersing visitors in the sights, sounds and smells of life on board, it is also possible to touch the copper hull, take the helm and even venture up high at the new Rig Climb Experience.

14 Greenwich Market

Greenwich Market was founded by Royal Decree in 1700 and is London's only historic market within a World Heritage Site. Surrounded by handsome Georgian shops, the covered market is brimming with arts and crafts by local designer-makers, antiques and collectables and delicious street food from across the globe.

15 St Alfege Church

Dedicated to Alfege, the Archbishop of Canterbury martyred here by the Vikings in 1012, there's been a church on this site for over 1,000 years. The present church was designed by Nicholas Hawksmoor, and historical figures including Henry VIII are closely connected to the church. Tours of the crypt are a recommended highlight.

6 Old Royal Naval College

Built on the site of Greenwich Palace, birthplace of Henry VIII, the Old Royal Naval College is a majestic 17-acre estate open for all to enjoy. Home to the Painted Hall, Chapel and Victorian Skittle Alley, the site is also one of the world's most popular film locations. The University of Greenwich and Trinity Laban have campuses here.

7 The Painted Hall

The Painted Hall is the resplendent jewel in the Old Royal Naval College's crown. Designed in the early 18th century by Sir James Thornhill, it took 19 years to complete and is a glorious tribute to Britain's monarchy and naval power. Visit the adjoining Nelson Room and see where Lord Nelson lay in state following his death at the Battle of Trafalgar.

Greenwich Park

Sitting at the heart of the World Heritage Site, this idyllic park is the oldest enclosed Royal Park and home to the Royal Observatory and Prime Meridian line. Stroll through ancient tree-lined avenues and relax in the tranquil Flower, Herb and Rose Gardens. At the top of the hill, there are fantastic views over the river Thames and the capital.

1 The O2

The O2 is the world's most popular, music, leisure and entertainment venue. A full day-out destination, there's plenty to explore with over 30 bars and restaurants, outlet shopping, movies and bowling to indoor skydiving, trampolining, immersive sports bars and more.

2 Up at The O2

Book an exhilarating climb over The O2 and soak in spectacular 360° views of Greenwich, the Thames and London. Up at The O2 takes climbers over the roof of the iconic entertainment venue. Choose from Daytime, Sunset, Twilight and Celebration Climbs.

5 The Tide

The Tide is London's first elevated, linear riverside park. Stretching more than 1km, from Peninsula Square to the Thames then along the riverside, it's studded with public art by luminaries such as Damien Hirst, and stages wonderful temporary exhibits.

6 IFS Cloud Cable Car

The IFS Cloud Cable Car is one of the most sensational ways to cross the River Thames. Linking Greenwich Peninsula with the Royal Docks on the north shore, it offers superb views over the capital. Visit the London Cable Car Experience, an exciting hub of fun for all the family.

3 Outlet Shopping at The O2

Shopping for discounts on the big brands? Outlet Shopping at The O2 offers irresistible discounts at up to 70% off RRP on over 60 brands including Adidas, Clarins, Tommy Hilffger, Nike and more. All under the iconic roof of The O2.

4 Design District

Greenwich Peninsula's Design District oozes creativity. Spread over 16 innovative buildings (the work of eight separate architects), it includes multiple event spaces and even a bookable rooftop basketball court. A focus for the creative industries, it offers cocktails and world food at Canteen Food Hall & Bar.

8 Greenwich Peninsula Golf Driving Range

London's premier driving range lies on the west side of the Peninsula, allowing splendid views over the river to the glass city of Canary Wharf beyond. With 60 state-of-the-art bays over two tiers, there is also a restaurant, shop and CrazyPutt Adventure Golf.

9 NOW Gallery

Fans of cutting-edge contemporary art, fashion and design will love NOW Gallery. Free to visit, NOW puts on five temporary exhibitions per year in its striking gallery building and the surrounding area. There's also the live art, music and performance of NOW Later events.

GREENWICH PENINSULA: the home of communication

The story of the Enderbys, the first transatlantic cable and the origins of Alcatel Submarine Networks

Walk along the Thames Path and discover a fascinating history revealing that Greenwich is not only the home of time, but also communication. Look out for the attractive Enderby House pub, where this story begins.

The area surrounding this heritage building was, hundreds of years ago, a wild expanse of marshland home to waterfowl and ferrymen. Then, in 1830, the Enderby brothers founded a business making ships, sails and rope here. The company became so well known in its day that Herman Melville referenced it in Moby Dick.

Clockwise from top: workers making cables in the 1800s; a repeater about to be deployed in the water; a number of ASN repeaters – these repeat the data signals along the length of the cables transatlantic cable in 1857, followed by the first transatlantic telephone cables in 1956 and fibre-optic cables in 1988. These cables are the sinews of our globalised world; without them there'd be no internet!

Today, Alcatel Submarine Networks (ASN) keeps this trailblazing technological tradition alive. Running what is the world's oldest continuously operational telecommunications factory, ASN is the torchbearer of this fascinating industrial history. Whenever you use any internet connected device, it's remarkable to think that you're using ASN tech made in Greenwich!

Continue your riverside walk to enjoy a day exploring Greenwich Peninsula. From the world-famous entertainment venue The O2 and London's only cable car, to free galleries, riverside parks, cool places to stay, eat and drink, and a vibrant musical and cultural scene, all waiting to be discovered!

Enderby House, The Octagon Room features a view over the river from where Samuel Enderby would watch his vessels approach

The Enderbys initiated a manufacturing tradition that would see Greenwich Peninsula quickly develop into the world's primary location for the production of subsea cables. The gorgeous Georgian home they built near to their factory is Enderby House, which is now the delightful riverside pub where you can enjoy a pint with panoramic views of the Thames.

Technological advances at the factory from rope to cable led to the manufacture of the first

AROUND AND ABOUT

Discover more highlights and wonderful hidden gems right across the Royal Borough of Greenwich. Make the most of your visit and take time to explore the remarkable attractions in Woolwich, Eltham and Charlton, as well as all the beautiful parks and open spaces that put the 'green' in Greenwich.

Take Severndroog Castle 1 an 18th-century folly on Shooter's Hill offering unexpected views over seven counties from one of London's highest points. Visit on Sundays to climb its viewing platform, or any day to ramble in the surrounding woods. The Tearoom is open Thursday to Sunday.

Animal lovers should head to Charlton in the borough's east for Maryon Wilson Animal Park 2, a refuge and petting zoo set in the remnants of the ancient forest of Hanging Wood. Those more drawn to modern engineering marvels will be in awe of the gleaming silver domes of the mighty Thames Barrier 3, one of the world's largest movable flood barriers.

Greenwich's architecture is one of its most popular attractions. From the 21 listed military and industrial buildings in the Royal Arsenal 4 at Woolwich to the mixed Tudor and Art Deco delights of Eltham Palace 5, there are so many prime examples of British building to see. Charlton House 6 is one of the finest Jacobean mansions in the country, while Crossness Pumping Station, the 'cathedral in the marshes' is a stunning example of Victorian industrial architecture.

The river is Greenwich's highway and lifeblood. With over 8.5 miles of Thames Path and three piers in the borough, it's the ideal way to get off the beaten track and explore by foot, bike or boat. The views on and off the river are stunning.

Beyond the water, the borough offers acres of delightful parks and open spaces, including Blackheath, Woolwich Common, Charlton Park, Well Hall Pleasaunce, the ancient trees of Oxleas Woods and miles of green walking routes including the Capital Ring and Green Chain Walk.

Other lesser-known delights include pre-booked tours of the Prince Philip Maritime Collections Centre 7 home to the Royal Museums Greenwich stored collections, and Lesnes Abbey Woods, where you can wander the Grade II listed ruins of a medieval abbey.

WOOLWICH

Woolwich is the Borough's freshest cultural destination, easily reached by train, DLR, the Elizabeth Line and Uber Boat by Thames Clippers. Exciting new developments and events blend creatively with Woolwich's rich legacy of industrial, military and maritime history. Explore the town and riverside to discover the Royal Arsenal, the high street and popular markets, pubs and restaurants.

Royal Arsenal

The Royal Arsenal offers military history alongside thrilling culture. Beautiful heritage buildings house Woolwich Works, Punchdrunk, pubs, cafes and new homes. Look out for the Royal Brass Foundry and the Old Royal Military Academy.

2 Woolwich Works

Voted by Time Out as Best New Culture Spot in London, Woolwich Works packs large-scale performance and event spaces, studios, a bar and cafe into five sensitively restored heritage buildings. Comedy, cabaret, music, dance and so much more!

8 Elizabeth Line

The Elizabeth line provides a speedy and spacious way to travel to Woolwich. The largest project of its kind in Europe, the gleaming new line was opened by Elizabeth II, just before her Platinum Jubilee.

12 Tramshed

Based in a former generating station for the tram network, Tramshed is a theatre company and arts hub offering performing arts programmes for young people and adults with learning differences.

14 St George's Garrison Church

The ruins of St George's Garrison Church impresses with its modern canopy roof and beautiful mosaics. Still a functioning church, it hosts special events and can be visited for evensong and Sunday Mass.

15 Royal Artillery Barracks

Sitting on Woolwich Common, the Barracks was the home of the Royal Artillery from 1776 until 2007. The impressive Georgian façade of the Barracks is said to be the longest of its kind in Europe.

ELTHAM

Head to the south of the Royal Borough to lose yourself amongst Eltham's tranquil parks and gardens. Fans of Tudor and Art Deco architecture will love Eltham Palace and Gardens, once home to Henry VIII and 1930s millionaires.

Medieval, Tudor and Art Deco design mingle in Eltham Palace and Gardens. Given to Edward II by the Bishop of Durham in 1305, it's the childhood home of Henry VIII and subsequently the playground of millionaires and filmmakers. In the 1930s, Stephen and Virginia Courtauld built their Art Deco home 1 around the original medieval Great Hall. Nineteen acres of manicured gardens 2 feature stunning herbaceous borders, pools and cascades running down to the picturesque moat. 3

Well Hall Pleasaunce is a delightful mix of formal gardens, ponds and woodland. 4 Dating back to the 13th century, its prominence as a Tudor manor lives on in London's last surviving Tudor barn. Children's writer E. Nesbit, author of The Railway Children, lived in Well Hall from 1899 to 1920.

Eltham Lodge is renowned as one of the most elegant historic homes in London. Retaining many of its 17th-century features, it's home to Royal Blackheath Golf Club 5 one of the oldest golf clubs in the world.

CHARLTON

Originally a tiny Tudor village, Charlton is home to a Jacobean mansion, a historic football team, woodlands, parks and an engineering marvel.

The riverside at Charlton is perhaps most famous as the site of the Thames Barrier. 1 This gleaming feat of engineering straddles the Thames, protecting Londoners from the river's tidal surges.

Tucked away in residential streets is The Valley: 2 home of Charlton Athletic FC for more than 100 years, it's one of London's most iconic football venues. Charlton Lido 3 was the last of the London lidos to be completed in 1939, prior to the outbreak of the Second World War. Open to the public, it offers a spectacular, Olympic sized, heated outdoor pool.

In the village up the hill is one of the finest surviving Jacobean manor houses in the country - Charlton House. 4 Free to visit, the house's grand interior of original staircases, fireplaces and fine, plasterwork ceilings is a pleasure to behold. Acres of delightful grounds, including walled landscapes, a Peace Garden 5 and Charlton Park, surround the house.

Just across the road you'll find the secluded landscapes of Maryon and Maryon Wilson Parks. Maryon Wilson Animal Park 6 provides sanctuary to ponies, goats, sheep, pigs and cute little furries including chinchillas.
